A version of the classic Jules Verne adventure – Journey to the Centre of the Earth that follows a team deep into the depths of a volcano.

Homework Grid Autumn Term 1

This term, Robin Class will have their homework tasks based on our exciting geography unit on mountains and volcanoes. Over the next term, it is expected that children will complete a minimum of four tasks from those suggested below. Children are invited to show/talk to the class about these tasks throughout the week when there is time.

Compose... a poem or a short piece of music about a volcanic explosion.

You could use the classical music of Stravinsky's the Firebird to inspire you.

Write...

Create a diary entry as a witness to a volcanic eruption. It could be an historic eruption – you could use real witness statements as a guide.

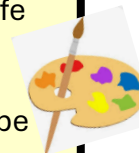

What did you see? How did you feel?

Create...A painting or a model of a real-life volcano.

Think about its features and what might be on its sides. Will it be exploding?

Or create an earthquake simulator with Lego.

Spend some time...

Mountain or Hill walking, we don't have any mountains near us, but can you achieve an ascent up a big hill nearby or take a trip to a mountain in Wales.

Watch out for the wind!

Calculate... Mountain Statistics

You will need to read, write, order, and compare numbers up to 1,000,000 and determine the value of each digit.

Look at the heights of 15 famous mountains and volcanoes – select them and list them down in a logical order.

Research...

Find out about Krakatoa or Mount Vesuvius. Create a fact file about what made these eruptions so important. (There are other historic eruptions if you want to write about a different volcano.

Investigate...

Print out a map of Britain – can you find and mark some the largest mountains and note their names and heights on them.

Try to get a few in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland if you can.

Visit... Try a virtual tour of the ruins of Pompeii! What sights can you see:
